DIRECTOR OF CENSUS TELLS WHY THE DELAY

Claims Compilation of Cotton Statistics Before 2 P. M. is Impossible.

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—The director of the census has issued the following statement regarding the cotton reports: "In order to expedite the publication of the cotton ginning reports, the census office has this year undertaken the experiment of compiling them from telegraphic reports from the county agents, using the individual ginner's cards, subsequently received by mail, to verify the telegraphic summaries. In this way it has been possible to expedite the publication of the semi-monthly reports at least one week. For instance, last year's report of cotton ginned to October 18th, corresponding to the one issued yesterday, was made public until November 3d. In order to present this earlier report, it has been found absolutely necessary to change the hour of publication from 12 o'clock noon to 2 P. M., which will hereafter be the uniform hour for making the report public."

The bulk of the telegrams from our county agents are not received until the morning of compilation, the agents being given until the night of the preceding day to complete their canvasses and file their reports. Some of these agents are located so far from telegraph offices that their reports cannot be received in this office before noon, or thereabouts, of the day of publication. These telegrams must be arranged by counties and the information listed on cards before compilation by adding machines can be done. It is therefore a physical impossibility to compile the complete report earlier than 2 P. M., and I do not believe that any similar statistical
